Graduation Instructions

April 25, 2002

Brigham Young University

Provo, Utah

This instruction booklet has been prepared for your use in an effort to make the commencement exercises as enjoyable as possible. We suggest that you read all instructions carefully. Please see one of the line marshals if you have any questions.

Proper Respect for the American Flag

Whenever the flag approaches, all students should stand and place their right hands over their hearts, male students removing their caps and placing them over their hearts.

When the colors are posted, students may then be seated.

Special Needs

Please contact the University Accessibility Center (1520 WSC, telephone 422-2767) if you have permanent or temporary physical disabilities. The academic processional includes many stairs, ramps, and other potential obstacles, and elevator access can be arranged if we know in advance.

Academic Processional

Families and friends are invited to take their seats in the Marriott Center and view the academic processional via large-screen television. Doing so will reduce congestion along the path of the parade. Doors will open at 2:00 p.m., and parents and other guests should be seated by 3:15 p.m.

All candidates for graduation should assemble at designated areas in the parking lots located north of the Smoot Administration Building by 3:10 p.m. (Please see map on page 2.) Programs will be provided for each candidate at the Marriott Center. You might want to retain your program and take it with you to your college convocation on Friday.

Candidates for graduate degrees are to line up in the parking lot on the north side of the Smoot Administration Building (line 6). Doctoral candidates will line up at the front of the line, followed by juris doctorate and then master's candidates. You will not need to line up alphabetically.

Candidates for bachelor's degrees and associate degrees are to form lines in the parking lots north of the Smoot Administration Building according to college. It will not be necessary to line up alphabetically.

The board of trustees, color guard, deans, directors, and special guests will assemble in the designated area immediately north of the Smoot Administration Building (line 1). The remainder of the faculty will gather on the sidewalks east and west of the Smoot Administration Building (lines 7 and 8).

Rainy-Day Schedule

Should it rain and be too wet to line up outside, all faculty and graduates are requested to be in their designated seating areas inside the Marriott Center by 3:45 p.m. (Please see map of Marriott Center on page 4.)

Maneuvering the steps in the Marriott Center may be dangerous while wearing the gown. Descend the steps carefully; and when the rainy-day schedule is in effect, don't put on your cap and gown until you have reached your designated seat.

Order of March

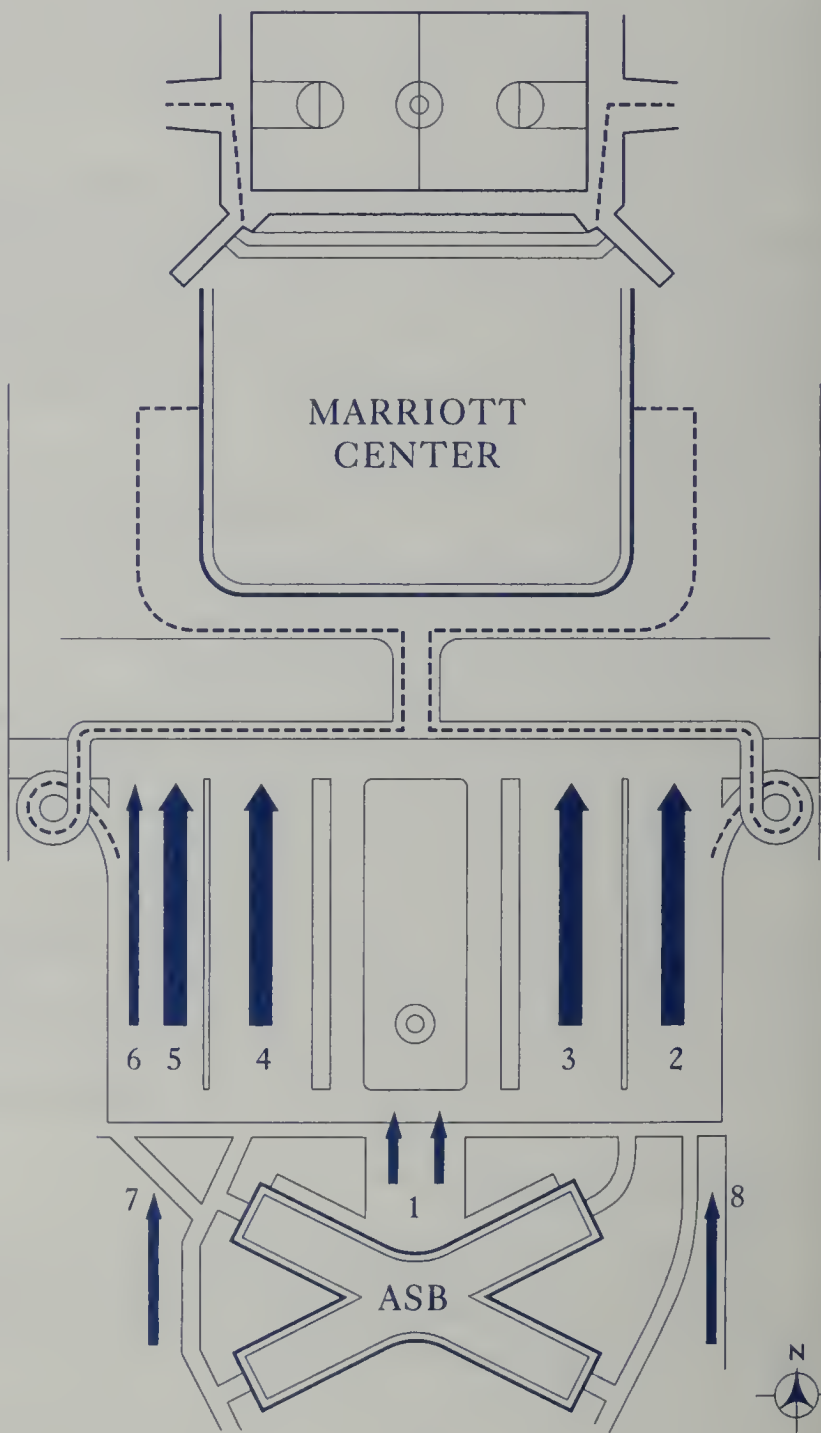

The academic procession will begin promptly at 3:15 p.m. The color guard, board of trustees, deans, directors, and special guests will move first, forming double lines and marching up the east and west ramps toward the Marriott Center.

Associate deans, assistant deans, and faculty will form double lines and file in directly behind the special guests on both the east and west ramps. Both lines will march parallel underneath the archway, after which the faculty procession will stop to allow the color guard and others to stand in prearranged positions. The lines will then separate and form the reviewing lines on both sides of the walks leading into the Marriott Center.

Immediately behind the faculty will be the doctoral and master's degree candidates (line 6); they will form a single line and march parallel with the undergraduate candidates up the Line of March

- 1. Color Guard, President, Board of Trustees, Administrative Officers, Deans, Official Guests.
- 2. Health and Human Performance; Marriott School; Biology and Agriculture.
- 3. Humanities; Engineering and Technology.
- 4. Fine Arts and Communications; Education; Physical and Mathematical Sciences.
- 5. Family, Home, and Social Sciences; David M. Kennedy Center; Nursing.
- 6. EdD's, PhD's, JD's, Master's.
- 7, 8. Associate Deans, Assistant Deans, Faculty.

ramp northwest of the Smoot Administration Building then into the Marriott Center to be seated on the playing floor.

The bachelor's and associate degree candidates will march two columns abreast. Those in lines 2 and 3 will proceed up the ramp northeast of the Smoot Administration Building, and those in lines 4 and 5 will proceed up the ramp northwest of the Smoot Administration Building. The candidates will enter the Marriott Center and be seated as shown on the map on page 4. Line marshals will assist in lining up and seating candidates.

Procedure in Awarding Degrees

Academic Vice President Alan L. Wilkins will ask the candidates to arise by degree (doctoral, master's, bachelor's, and associate). They will remain standing until President Bateman has conferred the degrees and asks them to be seated.

Recessional

The recessional begins immediately following the benediction. Graduates will remain seated until the dignitaries have left the stand. All graduates will then rise at the same time. Graduates seated in the chair seats will exit by rows, going up the stairs and out the portals beginning from the back rows. To reduce congestion, please march directly out of the building (arrange in advance to meet family members outside). Commencement line marshals will direct those seated on the playing floor to exit through the east floor portals and up the tunnel stairs.

Caps, Gowns, and Hoods

All candidates should position their tassels on the left side of the academic caps. Only male candidates should remove their caps for prayers. All rented caps, gowns, and hoods will be collected at the conclusion of the convocations on Friday.

Candidates may keep their tassels.

All associate degree tassels should be black in color. The tassel color for bachelor's degree candidates should be white for the bachelor of arts degree, yellow for the bachelor of science degree, brown for the bachelor of fine arts degree, pink for the bachelor of music degree, and white for the bachelor of general studies degree. Only female candidates receiving the associate or bachelor's degree should wear the white collar.

The tassel color for all master's degree candidates corresponds with the velvet on the hood. Candidates for master's degrees should wear their hoods during both commencement and convocation exercises. Female master's degree candidates do not wear the white collar.

The tassel color for all doctoral degrees is gold. Doctoral degree candidates should wear their hoods during commencement exercises on Thursday. They will participate in the hooding ceremony at their college convocation on Friday. Female doctoral degree candidates do not wear the white collar. Juris doctor candidates should pick up their hoods at the Alumni House.

University Dress and Grooming Standards

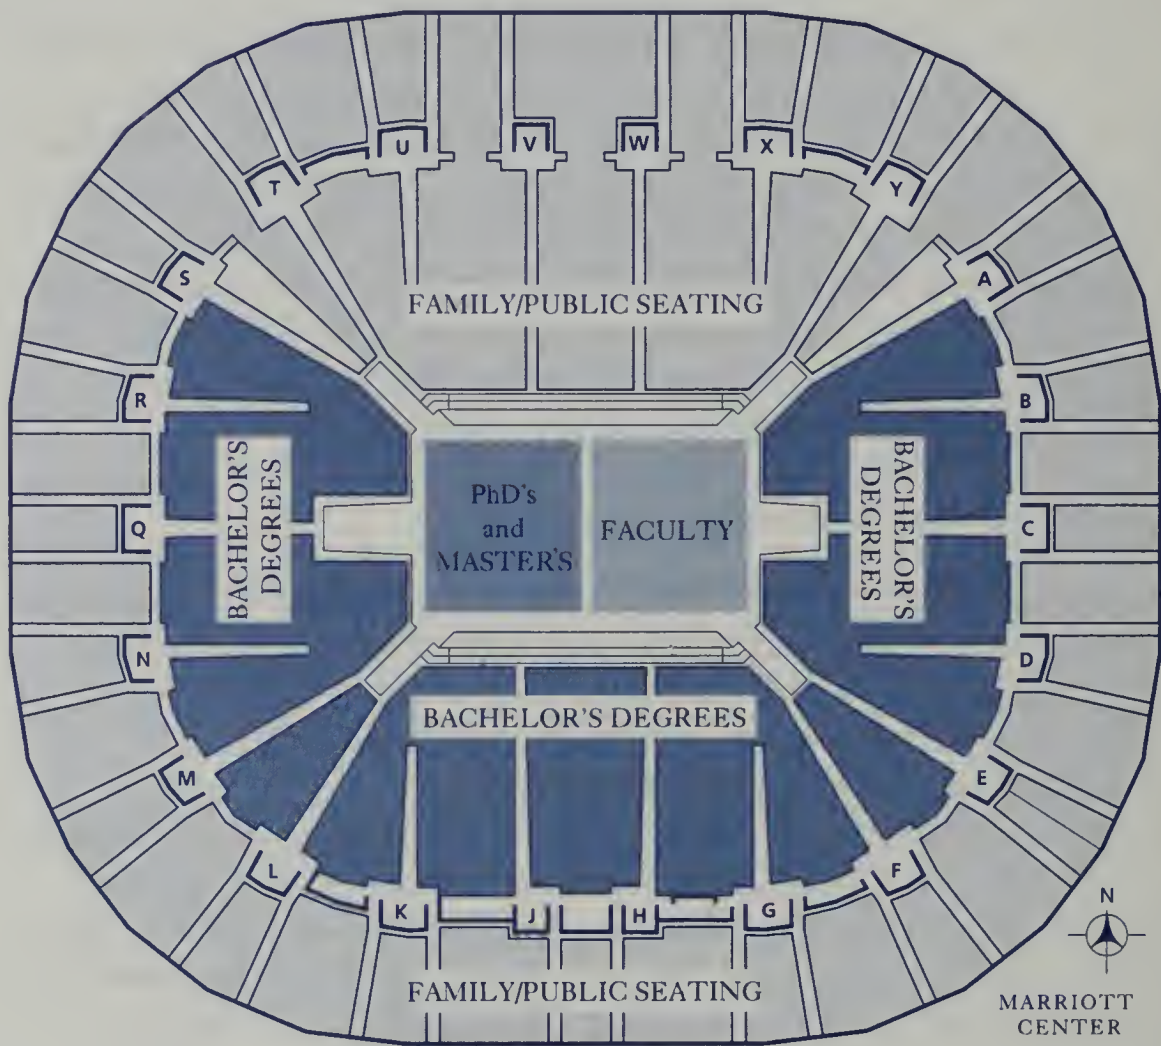

All candidates participating in commencement are expected to conform to Brigham Young University’s standards of dress and grooming, whether the candidate is a current BYU student or a former student returning to receive his or her degree.

It is recommended that male graduates wear dark-colored shoes. Women should wear street-length dresses and should not wear flowers or leis. Low-heeled shoes are recommended for the processional march.

Note: During the exercises, applause is appropriate after speeches, music, and the awarding of degrees.

Rainy-Day Seating Instructions

All faculty and graduates will go directly to the designated areas no later than 3:45 p.m.
Enter seating area through portals C–Q.

Significance of the Academic Costume

The significance of the academic costume is determined especially by the sleeves and hoods.

Doctors wear the round bell sleeve; the gown is faced down the front and barred on the sleeves with black velvet or color indicating the degree; the doctor’s hood is large. The doctor may choose to wear the gold tassel on the cap.

Masters wear the long, closed sleeve, with a slit near the upper part of the arm; the master’s hood is of more moderate size.

Bachelors wear the long or pointed sleeve. The color of the tassel indicates whether the degree is in the field of arts (white), fine arts (brown), music (pink), or science (golden yellow).

Commencement Speaker

Rod Paige

In 1816 Thomas Jefferson wrote, "If a nation expects to be ignorant and free . . . , it expects what never was and never will be." From our earliest days, we as a nation have believed in, invested in, and sought for quality education for all our citizens. We entrust our educators and educational institutions to help us define who we are; we see our educational commitments as helping to shape our past and future.

As an institution entrusted with some of the cream of our youth—from this and many other nations—and as an institution committed to building leaders who will shape tomorrow's future, it is a special honor and pleasure for Brigham Young University to welcome Secretary Rod Paige as the April 2002 commencement speaker.

Secretary Rod Paige has been devoted to education all his professional life. He is a man of character, a leader who has practiced what he has preached through a distinguished educational career. Born in Monticello, Mississippi, Secretary Paige comes from a family of educators. His father was a school principal, his mother a teacher and librarian. Three of his sisters are educators. Having experienced schooling in a segregated South, he knows firsthand both the disparities and opportunities in American educational systems. He received his bachelor's degree from Jackson State University in Mississippi and doctorate and master's degrees from Indiana University.

Today he is known and respected in the Department of Education as "engaging," "warm," "intellectually probing," "serious," "politically astute," "practical," and "hands-on." The story is told of the secretary himself (before he was secretary) drafting Houston's educational strategy on his home computer as part of a team effort that set the plan, course, and accountability for one of America's major school districts.

In a day when some politicians primarily seek the limelight of the outside media, Secretary Paige takes seriously his responsibilities both within and outside the Department of Education. In the midst of guiding some 5,000 professionals and a $50.3 billion budget, he makes time to meet regularly with professional personnel and staff throughout the department. He openly answers questions and takes suggestions, which greatly contributes to communication and morale. Each month he invites small groups of career staff and others to share lunch and open dialogue about themselves, their work, and the direction of the department.

Rod Paige is a leader. He was confirmed by the United States Senate as the seventh secretary of education on January 20, 2001, following the inauguration of President George W. Bush. Prior to his Cabinet appointment, Secretary Paige served for a decade as dean of the College of Education at Texas Southern University. During this time he established the university's Center for Excellence in Urban Education, a research facility that concentrates on issues related to instruction and management in urban school systems.

Part of what brought Secretary Rod Paige to President Bush's notice was the secretary's leadership of the Houston Independent School District (HISD). From 1989 to 1994 Secretary Paige served as a trustee and an officer of the Board of Education of the Houston Independent School District. In that capacity Secretary Paige coauthored the board's A Declaration of Beliefs and Visions. This call for fundamental reform through accountability at all levels—for development of a core curriculum, a focus on instruction, and decentralization—became a catalyst for the school district's comprehensive restructuring.

In 1994 Secretary Paige became the superintendent of schools of Houston's Independent School District. In a time when the professional tenures of some superintendents at major school districts could be short, Rod Paige established a strategic plan and a course of action and accountability and then followed it through.

His Peer Examination, Evaluation, and Redesign (PEER) approach brought business and community professionals together to strengthen school support services and programs. He established a system of charter schools and gave them broad authority in decisions regarding staffing, textbooks, and materials while holding them accountable for their decisions.

Secretary Paige insisted the Houston Independent School District pay its teachers salaries competitive with those offered by other large Texas school districts. He introduced teacher incentive pay, thereby rewarding teachers for outstanding performance and creative solutions to educational problems. He also strengthened accountability with the district's administrators, which included making the Houston Independent School District the first school district in the state to institute performance contracts modeled on those in the private sector.

Even prior to his current assignment, Secretary Paige's educational leadership has been wide-ranging. He has served on review committees of the Texas Education Agency and the State Board of Education's Task Force on High School Education. He has chaired the Youth Employment Issues Subcommittee of the National Commission for Employment Policy of the U.S. Department of Labor. He is a life member of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. He is a former member of the Houston Job Training Partnership Council, the Community Advisory Board of Texas Commerce Bank, the American Leadership Forum, and the Board of Directors of the Texas Business and Education Coalition.

Secretary Paige's educational awards and recognitions have also been numerous. He has been active on the Education Commission of the States. He was named outstanding urban educator of 1999 by the Council of the Great City Schools, which bestowed on him its Richard R. Green Award. In 2000 Secretary Paige received the National Association of Black School Educators' superintendent of the year award and the Harold W. McGraw, Jr., Prize in Education for his extraordinary commitment to the improvement of education. In 2001 he was named the national superintendent of the year by the American Association of School Administrators.

As secretary of education, Rod Paige continues to advocate character, leadership, opportunity for all, discipline, and accountability. As superintendent he learned to create private and public sector partnerships that brought imagination, involvement, best practices, and measurable improvements in performance for all the constituent parts of school districts, including students, teachers, administrators, and boards.

Today he brings the same spirit to education across the United States. "No Child Left Behind" is part of President George W. Bush's vision for America. It is a vision nurtured from the time the president and the secretary worked in partnership in Texas. It is a vision premised on "a quality education for every child in America."

Earlier this year Secretary Paige played a major role in helping pass a major piece of bipartisan legislation through Congress. The No Child Left Behind Act—called by some "the most sweeping reform of federal education policy in a generation”—was signed into law by President Bush on January 8, 2002. The No Child Left Behind Act is based on fundamental principles: accountability for results, state and local flexibility and reduced red tape, the focusing of resources on proven educational methods that most help children to learn, and expanded choices for parents.

No Child Left Behind is part of the secretary’s stewardship. It is also his charge to educators and education throughout the United States.

Some gathered together today may wonder why a person of the stature of Secretary Rod Paige is not receiving an honorary doctorate, a recognition those offering commencement addresses at major universities often receive. The following statement from the Department of Education is illuminating: “In the first month of his tenure as secretary of education, Rod Paige studied the issue of acceptance of honorary doctorates. The regulations in this regard would limit for one year the secretary’s ability to oversee issues regarding a university that had presented him with a doctorate. Since Secretary Paige felt strongly that he had to be in a position to represent and address issues with all universities, he determined that he would not accept honorary doctorates from any university during his tenure as secretary. Although he appreciates the honor intended by the offer of an honorary doctorate, he believes that his responsibility as secretary precludes acceptance of such degrees.”

It is this sense of integrity and service for all that would give Secretary Rod Paige an understanding of the motto at the entrance of Brigham Young University. His life has been a testament to the spirit of entering to learn, going forth to serve. He speaks eloquently, by example as well as by word, about the opportunities for service that education enables and, in some ways, requires. Indeed, Secretary Paige frequently cites a verse from the Gospel of Luke: “From everyone who has been given much, much will be demanded; and from the one who has been entrusted with much, much more will be asked.”

Part of what gives these words power when spoken by Secretary Rod Paige is that he has lived, and continues to live, these words. Not only is he a leader with a distinguished educational career, he is a man of character. Brigham Young University is very pleased and honored to have Secretary Rod Paige as a commencement speaker.

Significance of the Academic Costume

The significance of the academic costume is determined especially by the sleeves and hoods.

Doctors wear the round bell sleeve; the gown is faced down the front and barred on the sleeves with black velvet or color indicating the degree; the doctor’s hood is large. The doctor may choose to wear the gold tassel on the cap.

Masters wear the long, closed sleeve, with a slit near the upper part of the arm; the master’s hood is of more moderate size.

Bachelors wear the long or pointed sleeve. The color of the tassel indicates whether the degree is in the field of arts (white), fine arts (brown), music (pink), or science (golden yellow).

HONORARY DOCTORAL DEGREE

Kenneth E. Behring

"When I see the happiness in the faces of the people who get a wheelchair, I feel that this is the best thing I have ever done in my life," says Kenneth E. Behring.

"I think I'm pretty strong, but my eyes start to water when I see how little life some of these people have. If we can just give them any kind of a future, that is so important."

Born in Freeport, Illinois, Kenneth Behring grew up in rural Depression-era Wisconsin. His father worked in a lumberyard, his mother cleaned houses, and 14-year-old Ken worked in a cheese factory. Much of their food came from what they grew. Like most truly great individuals, he had to struggle—and he believed if he worked hard, he could succeed in life.

After attending the University of Wisconsin, he began selling used cars and eventually owned his own dealership. In the 1960s he left that successful career to enter the world of real estate development. Over the course of the next 35 years his companies created numerous planned communities in Florida and California, including the world-renowned Blackhawk development near San Francisco. From 1988 to 1997 Kenneth Behring owned the Seattle Seahawks.

"I'm a great believer in achievement," he says. "It's a personal feeling inside . . . that you've got the ability to succeed, and succeeding can be anything you want. Where the obligation comes in is to make sure that your country stays free whatever it takes and that there's freedom for the pursuit of knowledge, to worship the way you want, and freedom of opportunity."

To ensure these freedoms, Kenneth Behring does all he can to help youth learn pride in their heritage. The largest donor to the National Smithsonian museums, he gave $80 million in 2001 to the Smithsonian Institution's National Museum of American History, adding to the $20 million he gave its National Museum of Natural History in 1997. His latest gift is being used to modernize exhibits and showcase the role of the American dream in our nation's history. "I've lived the American dream, and I hope this gift will allow the museum to create an atmosphere [that will help visitors] stand a little taller, a little prouder." In recognition of his generosity and vision, the prestigious James Smithson Award was bestowed on Mr. Behring—only the fourth recipient in the Smithsonian's 170-year history.

To address the shortage of trained leaders in California's urban public schools, Mr. Behring donated $7.5 million in 2002 to establish the Kenneth E. Behring Institute for Educational Improvement at the University of California—Berkeley. By 2010 the institute's goal is to support training for approximately 750 new school principals. In exchange for their scholarships, the students pledge to work four years in a leadership position at a public school when they graduate.

During his years of travel around the world, Kenneth Behring has made it his personal mission to help those in need. "If you have enough and your family has enough, you have an obligation to give back," he says. His first-hand involvement has given him a realistic picture of how much help is needed worldwide. His donations of food, medical supplies, clothing, toys, and educational materials have helped people in some of the most impoverished nations on earth.

When he first brought wheelchairs to Romania in 1999, it was simply to fill extra cargo space on a jet carrying donated canned food. Then he personally delivered those chairs to a rehabilitation hospital. The visit forever changed his life.

"I found out that in Third World countries people who are immobile are discarded. They have no life. They have no hope. They have no future. They are put in the back of a little hut and given their meal a day, and for all purposes, people just kind of wish they would fade away or die."

That day in Romania, and on subsequent trips to Africa and Vietnam, Mr. Behring saw that restoring mobility improved lives instantly. As he coordinated more donations, he learned of the overwhelming need for wheelchairs worldwide. The World Health Organization estimated in 1999 that at least 25 million people needed wheelchairs, but more recent studies indicate the number may be as high as 130 million. In June 2000 Kenneth Behring pledged $15 million to launch the California-based Wheelchair Foundation. He also proposed a lofty goal: Provide one million wheelchairs by 2005.

The wheelchair he has chosen is rugged and can handle tough terrain.

It uses liquid rubber tires with extra welding and has heavy-duty seats that lessen the chance of accidents.

The chairs are made by three big manufacturers in Taiwan, Mexico, and the United States, and Mr. Behring is proud that factories have had to add shifts to fill the large orders. "They doubled their production to meet our demand and so have been able to give us a very special price of $150 each." He hopes soon to have wheelchairs assembled in countries where they are to be distributed, putting people to work in the countries his foundation helps.

"You have to give people hope and a future, and hopefully we'll be able to get people started in some occupation so that people will feel productive. . . . We're the biggest buyer of wheelchairs in the world by far. I've never done anything that is so simple. I think one reason why this kind of thing hasn't been done before is that people who cannot walk are usually hidden away from society."

A Vietnamese woman told him she had wanted to die until she received his gift. "She grabbed my two hands and said she now wanted to live. Right there I realized a $150 wheelchair was the difference between wanting to live or die."

After his trip to Vietnam, Mr. Behring took wheelchairs to Guatemala, Botswana, Zimbabwe, and several places in the U.S. "By that time I was pretty much hooked."

A seasoned businessman, Kenneth Behring did not enter the venture alone. In the months before he launched the Wheelchair Foundation, he assembled a board of advisors from around the world. The board's distinguished roster includes King Juan Carlos and Queen Sofia of Spain, co-chairs; the first ladies of Brazil, Honduras, El Salvador, Mexico, Lebanon, Ecuador, Guatemala, and Senegal; Patch Adams; Whitey Ford; Arnold Palmer; Don Shula; Jerry Lewis; Wayne Newton; Jack Kemp; President and Mrs. Nelson Mandela; and two dozen other luminaries. Not only have these relationships led to greater international awareness of the needs of the disabled, they have led to invaluable contacts and major donations.

To keep its operational costs low, the foundation utilizes non-governmental organization (NGO) partners worldwide to identify deserving recipients, clear the wheelchairs through customs, deliver them, and provide the foundation with pictures of each recipient seated in his or her new wheelchair.

Partners include the Red Cross/Red Crescent societies, Rotary International, Sister Cities International, Karitas, Direct Relief International, Mercy Corp, Perpetual Help for Africa, Counterpart International, Mercy Ships, Project Hope, and many "in-country" foundations. During the last two years The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints has partnered with the Wheelchair Foundation in providing wheelchairs to the needy in Latin America, Africa, and Europe as part of its humanitarian outreach.

Kenneth Behring was inducted into the American Academy of Achievement in 1989. He has served on the boards of national and international institutions, received numerous honors and awards of recognition, and been embraced by nations around the world.

Kenneth and Patricia, his wife of 52 years, reside in Blackhawk, California. They have five sons and 10 grandchildren, and all of them recently traveled to Mexico to deliver wheelchairs. "I've never had a feeling like lifting a child who has never walked, putting him on a wheelchair, and showing him how to use it," says Mr. Behring. "I wanted the family to experience it, too. I don't think when I was younger I knew what satisfaction you could get out of giving back to people."

"I owe society a great deal. . . . I want to see if I can do some good, and so I'm working harder now giving away money than I ever did making money."

For his generosity and worldwide service, "saving lives one wheelchair at a time," Brigham Young University is pleased to confer upon Kenneth E. Behring the degree of Doctor of Christian Service, honoris causa.

PRESIDENTIAL CITATION

Robert H. Garff

"He has a deep sense of service." "He's calm under fire; thinks where others emote." "People participate in and follow his leadership." "Steady as a rock; gets things done." "A man for all seasons." "Loves the Lord; loves to serve Him." These are some of the qualities ascribed to Robert H. Garff by Church leaders. And Robert Garff, chairman of the Salt Lake Olympic Organizing Committee, would find these qualities tested as never before as he fielded an intense barrage of gritty questioning by some of the world's most hard-bitten reporters.

It was the fall of 1998, and Robert Garff was the last man standing in the wake of the Olympic bid scandal. He'd been chosen as chairman because of his reputation as a leader who could build bridges and unite people of divergent views. He was also known as a man who could make things happen. Robert Garff calls those days in the aftermath of the scandal "horrible—probably the most stressful period of my life."

Although his personal efforts to rebuild the reputation of his community and secure the necessary funding to assure the games' success were nothing less than heroic, Robert Garff is convinced that his most important contribution to the Olympic effort was hiring Mitt Romney. Never one to seek the spotlight for himself, Robert Garff resumed and maintained a low profile as he provided steadfast leadership, continuity, and support of the Olympic effort. Uncomfortable with the idea of being honored for his Olympic service, he maintains that any accolades must go to the 30,000 volunteers. "The people of the world don't remember much about the venues that I helped build or the money that was raised or a thousand other things. . . . What they remember most is the people of Utah. They remember the volunteers, and that's who they'll remember for the rest of their lives."

Ask Robert Garff to talk about the people who influenced and helped to shape his life and he will tell you that from the time he was a boy all he wanted to do was be like his dad, Ken Garff, founder of the Ken Garff auto dealership. "He was a larger-than-life influence on me. He always gave me as much responsibility as I was willing to take. He wouldn't second-guess me, he would coach me. In the end he granted me responsibility and opportunities at very young ages that have helped me grow faster than I would have otherwise."

Thanks to this kind of preparation, his talents, and his love of work, Robert Garff has been instrumental not only in keeping the family business alive through a second generation but in building it into a mega-auto dealership with 30 franchises in 20 locations. But Ken Garff's influence on his son extended far beyond the automobile business. A man of diverse interests, his faith, his political and community leadership, and his devotion to family all had profound influences on his son.

Called to serve a mission in England, Robert Garff found another hero when he reported to his mission president, Marion D. Hanks. He remembers President Hanks as one who had a great gift for training and teaching young children. He still cherishes the opportunities he had to sit at President Hanks' feet on multiple occasions where he was taught from the scriptures. Robert Garff's mission service and leadership were exemplary, and he returned home with a deep testimony and conviction of the truthfulness of the gospel. He knew that from that time forth the Church must be a major focus of his life and that he must follow President Hanks' example of teaching.

Robert Garff has served in Church leadership roles ever since, his faith and maturity leading to callings as a bishop, stake president, mission president, then regional representative, as well as service on the General Sunday School Board.

Although focused as he was on church service and the family enterprise, Robert Garff also felt a strong obligation to serve his community. He entered politics and was elected to the state legislature in 1978 and served through 1986. His leadership skills and his ability to listen and relate to legislators of both political parties won him the respect and support of his peers as he moved up through the leadership chairs from majority whip to majority leader and finally to speaker of the house. He also served as president of the Salt Lake Chamber of Commerce and on many private boards. Presently he is chairman of the board of Deseret Book.

During his service in the state legislature, education was one of Robert Garff's top priorities, and his interest in and devotion to education were well known. Governor Norm Bangerter appointed him to the Board of Trustees of the University of Utah, his alma mater, after his return from his service as mission president in England. He served on the board for eight years.

His wife, Katharine Garff, a person of great accomplishments, is also praised by Church leaders. When asked to talk about Robert Garff, family man, Katharine Garff said that the greatest tribute she could pay him is that in spite of the fact that he was often pulled away while the children were growing up, to this day their five children dispute that fact. "The kids today say Dad was always home, and I just shake my head. But when he was home, he was theirs. That is probably the trademark that he has in every entity he is involved in—that when he is in the room with you, he's yours." Robert and Katharine Garff now share the joy of 12 grandchildren.

For his devoted, lifelong service to his church, his family, his community, and his state, for his remarkable seven-year leadership leading to and through the 2002 Olympic Winter Games, Brigham Young University is pleased to present to Robert H. Garff this Presidential Citation and Medallion.
